

Meru University of science and Technology

University Examination 2023

Year 3, Semester 2

For the Degree of Bachelor of science in Health Systems Management

Unit title: Management of Health Training Institutions

Unit code: NNH: 3353

Date: April 2023

Instructions: Answer Question one and any other two Questions

Question One 30marks

- |                                                                         |        |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|
| a) Explain the typical aspects of health professions that are regulated | 5marks |
| b) State the major elements of a curriculum                             | 4marks |
| c) Explain how to maintain an effective health workforce                | 6marks |
| d) State the phases of curriculum development                           | 5marks |
| e) Outline the steps in identifying training needs in an organization   | 6marks |
| f) Outline the qualities of a good lecture as a teaching method         | 4marks |

Question Two (20marks)

Discuss the challenges encountered in curriculum development and implementation

Question Three (20marks)

- |                                                                                                                    |         |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| a) Explain Bloom's Taxonomy levels of learning                                                                     | 10marks |
| b) Explain the critical success factors in attraction and retention of Human Resource for Health in an institution | 10marks |

Question Four (20marks)

Explain classroom teaching strategies that are applied to enhance students learning